I'm feeling lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends
Since you let me go I've been out-moaning the wind I've got this feeling deep inside of me I'll never hope to defend
Feeling lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends

Sleep is mostly accidental, mostly just a real slow blink I've got a faucet dripping all night long in a thought filled sink
I feel like I'm walking in boots with only one heel I seem to keep my balance but I come up short in the deal

It's got me feeling lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends
Since you let me go I've been out-moaning the wind I've got this feeling deep inside of me I'll never hope to
Feeling lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends

I feel like some broke down cowboy's rope Worn and frayed and so betrayed Left hanging on a post

I'm feeling lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends
Since you let me go I've been out-moaning the wind There's no single word in English to describe my lament
So I'm lank & lonesome & low & loose at both ends
