Say you love me when you're out the door
Words are fake, your actions say so much more Tonight I'm trying, to decipher these lies you're denying but
You break my heart when you take my hand
Well listen baby can you please try to understand?
You're not crying
When you say it's not working out yeah you're lying

She's bleeding confidence,
Just at my expense,
These shades of blue and red were always wrong,
And never right it seemed
Your silhouetted thinking,
Has left these ringing chords in the end,
You get what you deserve -
A broken heart, a broken heart you can't mend

Comatose on the ballroom floor
Your body's broken, your mind just can't handle more
You are dying to tell all the secrets you're hiding but Forget yourself when the music plays
Your favorite song's been repeating for three straight days
You're so blinding
You're breaking me down with this body I'm eying

She's bleeding confidence,
Just at my expense,
These shades of blue and red were always wrong,
And never right it seemed
Your silhouetted thinking,
Has left these ringing chords in the end,
You get what you deserve -
A broken heart, a broken heart you can't mend

And I've been dying to get this right
But it's just a losing fight
And it's only a matter of time tonight
[x2]

She's bleeding confidence,
Just at my expense

She's bleeding confidence,
Just at my expense,
These shades of blue and red were always wrong,
And never right it seemed
Your silhouetted thinking,
Has left these ringing chords in the end,
You get what you deserve -
A broken heart, a broken heart you can't mend
