When death lurks around the corner, don't be afraid the end is near It's just a door to a new beginning, opening in front of you
It's like a dream that's never ending, a nightmare never seen
Like the light of a shining star, thrown upon thee Why to fear that what so many have already been through?
Is it the fact you don't know what's beyond this door?
We've never seen what's beyond our horizon
And still we know it has to offer so much more When death comes closer to our side there's no need to run away
For we are misled by false believes thinking it makes sense to pray Still when our judgment day has come, the day of our departure
All our intentions wash away, we're falling back to none

[Chorus]

Embraced by the arms of our destination Having reached the final stop Looking back on the path behind us While facing ahead to the new world

[Chorus]
