This love has two stories
One yours and one sublime
This love has two beginnings
One mine and one unkind
This love has one pretender
This love is to remember

This love had two stories
Must end with once upon a time
There were two strangers
And in time, the strangers met
And fell in love with time
In oh such danger
And time, does not forget

In the meantime,
That's the way it goes.
Meanwhile, once upon a time
In the meantime, meanwhile

This love has two meanings
One sure and one to find
This love has true feelings
One yearning, one is blind
This love should not surrender
This love is to remember

This love with two meanings
Must end with once upon a time
There were two strangers
And in time, the strangers met
And fell in love with time
In oh such danger
And time, does not forget

In the meantime,
that's the way it goes.
Meanwhile, once upon a time
In the meantime, meanwhile,
That's the way it goes.
Once upon a time

In the meantime
This love has one pretender
This love will always remember

This love with two stories
Must end with once upon a time
There were two strangers
And in time, the strangers met
In oh such danger
And time, does not forget

In the meantime,
That's the way it goes.

This love had one pretender
This love will always be mine
This love was once upon a time

This love had one pretender
That's the way it has to be
This love will always be mine
Always you, always me
The way its gotta be
