

Ian Bruce

"Blame It On Love"

Visit "Blame It On Love" on MotoLyrics.com

Don't go with strangers it's been heard and often said
You can't be sure of things you might regret
Dressed up in white tuxedo two tone shoes and yes
He's got them all in one he's got the cream of the crop

First you say no but then you end up and say you're told
You can't except proposals to unknown
But your resistance is gettin' low
And you can't win and take the shape you're in
Can you afford a sin?

Blame it on love blame it on full moon lights
Underneath where everything rhymes
Gettin' better all the time
Blame it on love blame it on shoo-shoo eyes
A lot of sugar and spice gettin' sweeter all the time

I got a secret and it takes one to reveal
That certain one just got to be one who's here

Sometimes you feel love's been so cruel to let you down
There's too much ache and pain a heart can take
But don't unwind just get it straight on in line
Don't sit and bite your time creating superstitious minds

Wrap up your soul and throw away all that blues
You can't rely on a fortune teller's truth
Get on that train of love when it starts to ride
It sure can ease your mind so let it loose don't fight

I got a secret and it takes one to reveal
That certain one just got to be one who's here

Visit Ian Bruce page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.