Every second that goes by
Without the spark inside your eyes, I wonder why
All the rules we swore to break
And all the little things we said do not apply
We've lost what mattered most,
Like raindrops in a hurricane we fade away
We've lost what mattered most,
Like raindrops in a hurricane we fall

Now everything I know is gone,
Sometimes your heart is simply wrong
There's no point in carrying on,
This love has left us both so cold

It started like an accident
The moment that we hit the brakes came way too late
At first it seemed that we'd be fine
That nothing much was out of line, we were so blind
We've lost what mattered most,
Like raindrops in a hurricane we fade away

Now everything I know is gone,
Sometimes your heart is simply wrong
Yeah there's no point in carrying on,
Cause love has left us both Leading the way
We are lost for what we chase
Trying to find something more
Hiding here between the lines
Between lines

Now everything I know is gone,
Sometimes your heart is simply wrong
There's no point in carrying on,
Cause love has left us both so cold, so cold, so cold
Cause we've lost what mattered most
Yeah we've lost what mattered most
