The day begins
Just like any other
I wake up in the comfort
Of all this bedroom clutter

I look outside
Another grey sky
Looks like winter
Is coming early this year

And I know it's gonna be a real cold run this time
A real breakdown, take down, cold one this time

My old high school
Just like the way I left it
With lots of bodies in it
Just waiting to get out

And me outside
Looking in Wondering
Which night something would happen

The snow begins
Just like I remember
Looks like it's going to be
Another long, cold December

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
A real breakdown, take down, cold one this time

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
A mighty cold, getting old, quick, make you sick one this time

The night blows
Just like any other
So I crawl into my bed

Get in underneath the covers

It's so cold in here
Must have left the windows open
Outside it's still snowing
Looks like winter's here

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
A real breakdown, take down, cold one this time

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
A mighty cold, getting old, quick, make you sick one this time

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
A real breakdown, take down, cold one this time

And I know it's gonna be a real cold one this time
