Goldie was a tiny dancer she say hold me closer
Eyes filled with words of love
Yeah she kiss and say forever unbelievable
With the lipstick of the brave

I remember every silver teardrop
Every tiny golden hand you laid on me
When this war is over at the world's end
All that will be will be dust and sparks of us

Goldie was a tiny dancer she say hold me closer
Eyes filled with words of love

I remember every silver teardrop
Every tiny golden hand you laid on me
When this war is over at the world's end
All that will be will be dust and sparks of us

Sparks of us

And sometime before we all vanish from the sky
In between the lightning and the moment that we die
Are love will flash across the world into everyone
Oh, one last smile on every face before they know they're done

I remember every silver teardrop
Every tiny golden hand you laid on me
When this war is over at the world's end
All that will be will be dust and sparks of us

Sparks of us

And sometime before we all vanish from the sky
In between the lightning and the moment that we die
Are love will flash across the world into everyone
One last smile on every face before they know they're done
