Chorus

Same old rhyme 925
It can seem to be my life
Can't wait to see your smile to make it all worthwhile
As soon as I walk in its like I never left at all 9 to 5 I gotta do my dues
But I forget about it all when I get home to you

Verse 1

As I awake and greet the day with a smile even though it feels that I've only rested for a little while I take a second just to tend to my complexion 4 to 5 on style now heading to 1st destination Day to day that's the sound of the men working on the chain wounder will their ever b an end I tend to final matters now heading for home base gather all belongings with no time to waste So I divert energy to mind over matter to minimize the factor of the cold breeze barrier Like every day I overcome the morning fresh now soon for departure as I gather up my strength When times are getting down in my mind I see your face though I'm steering at the ground my minds in a better place enslaved within this day due to make an escape my mind
Body and soul together in this better place

Chorus

It's been a few days struggle, because I feel like I done left my mind behind In my trail of thoughts
But if at any stage my concentration sails off course I just reflect upon the power that pulsates through your source
I read your love letters each night
To reaffirm my purpose within this limited time
I don't deny the world has not tried to harden my heart But those occasions have only helped to add flame to the spark
After I weathered the dark, joy arises in the morning Greeted by excitement, knowing I'm coming home to your calling Mission accomplished the trumpets welcome my steps So overwhelmed I tend to lose the pattern of my breathe
A long with my words catching your essence Like my shoes were reserved in this spot for such a blessing Capturing the journeys essence in a second This moment was destined & worth the wait in retrospective

Most times, I wish I could do better Give you anything, Just like we talk about everything
For hours on end girl, when one of us rings Matter fact It's a beautiful thing That we got going on Who would of thought that We'd still be going strong Because I know that I've hardly been there to hold you and tell you that I care
But no matter the weather
Now till forever
I'm always thinking of you

Chorus

Same old rhyme 925

Can't wait to see your smile to make it all worthwhile
