Watch you sleep so quiet you lay
Take my finger and I'll show you the way
A small step for mankind, a large one for you
Complete irresoluteness what will you go through?
A smile a giggle the joy of a life
Exhilaration, the swing set outside
Your blue blue eyes tell the tale of success
For you there'll be no regrets

A playful lock that graces your cheek
A curious finger tastes a room of mystique
If tears begin to fill up your eyes
You know I'll be there, right by your side

You take a first step, a second one
You're on a roll but then you fall down
A small taste of what life may hold
Never forget, you're in control
Embrace this innocent life
The fountain of youth which we all should abide
A sheer reminder of what we once had
A world without worries a world without cares

A playful lock that graces your cheek
A curious finger tastes a room of mystique
If tears begin to fill up your eyes
You know I'll be there, right by your side

(Stick)

A playful lock that graces your cheek
A curious finger tastes a room of mystique
If tears begin to fill up your eyes
You know I'll be there, right by your side
You know I'll be there, right by your side
