Untie the noose that's wrapped around your neck.
It's taking you down, it's pulling you apart.
Rise to your feet, let the chains that bound you behind
from where you were held a captive.
Oh God, there's no room for error in this game of life and death.
Regret, it stings. Leaving you gasping for your breath.
Cover up your scars, it tells the story of your life once gripped by fear.
Have faith in those that pull you underneath the waves,
for they can save you in the end.
Have faith in those that pull you towards the light, for they can save you in the end.
Walk the waves, let the ocean pass beneath your feet.
Walk the waves.
Regret, it stings
