Look at me looking back at me don't I look sad
See the tears in my eyes see me feel bad
I can almost still see me with you standing next to me
Guess I'm just trying too hard to see what I had
Mirrors don't lie mirrors don' lie

Standing all by myself feeling sorry for you
Standing by the emptiness where you should be
A reflection of own me foolish me feeling lonely
Wish my mirror would show me what I want to see
But mirrors don't lie mirrors don' lie

These arms that once held me now ache in despair
I feel the pain but somehow I try not to care
I could see me feel weaker but my spirit falls deeper
And I can't see me now but I must be still there
Mirrors don't lie mirrors don' lie
