Achieving is a component to my happiness but
Meters under water there's no key to success
I must move out of the waves to better myself
Because now I have been captured by failure

Time moves me along to not achieve goals
Promises to reform myself have not become law
Incapable to improve myself
Incapable of achieving success

I keep telling myself to pick up the pace because Success is not inevitable but I still wander without Ever having put my head above the water
This is the water to keep in the path of failure

Time moves me along to not achieve goals
Promises to reform myself have not become law
Incapable to improve myself
Incapable of achieving success
