"Stagnant Life"

I live a slow life in which my long term goals
Seem that they are above clouds so I can't See those goals being achieved and the only
Thing I see is loss of motivation to achieve
I wait for the day when motivation comes

Time can be used for good but it's my enemy
Motivation come to me so that I can understand
Time whereby I will put priorities in order to get
Out of this stagnant life where desperation rises
Confinement to stagnation ensures failure

While I wait for motivation I'm trying to achieve
My long-term goals because it could take a long
Time for that day so I would rather fight for Myself than wait for a promise so I should try
To create my own motivation than wait

Time can be used for good but it's my enemy
Motivation come to me so that I can understand
Time whereby I will put priorities in order to get
Out of this stagnant life where desperation rises
Confinement to stagnation ensures failure
