Wishful eyes,
Fill this room up with the spirit of your cries
So, that all the world can hear it go in vain
Oh, once again Im cracked and empty leaking
Drip into the drain, wait I can explain
Inside myself that I am seeking Little smiles,
Every moment brings another wasted mile
Between everything and everything I need
Get up to leave for the time has come for leaving
And if it don't succeed will just burry all the leaves
And we could escape this emptiness
Someone take control of me
I am spinning in infinity
With my life it's going endlessly from control
Take off your clothes for the time has come for sleeping
Cause everybody know the world continues though
Whether or not your still breathing
Little Child,
I discovered you and hold you till surprise(?)
Just to punch you in the face with nothing more Than what all my anger bore
Its little head and started screaming
But weve heard this all before
Don't just open up the door
And fill your mouth with freedoms feelings
But, someone take control of me
I am trudging with my infantry
With my army and my enemies taking hold
Take off your clothes for the time has come for sleeping
Cause everybody know the world continues though
Whether or not your still breathing
