So here it is
My final breath
Our last embrace

Before the air, it leaves my lungs
Oh, promise me that you won't be long

And say you will
And say you won't
And say you will forever own my heart

And say you will
And say you won't
And say you will forever own my heart
Until the earth begins to part

And should you stay
And choose to age?
To live your life
Without me there

I hope your heart
It can not grow
With all the guilt
That you have not

And say you will
And say you won't
And say you will forever own my heart

And say you will
And say you won't
And say you will forever own my heart
Until the earth begins to part, oh, oh, oh
