My heart was your possession,
And of this you were aware.
My refuge was within your arms,
Face nestled in your hair.

But ended you this sweet rapport
As summer did draw nigh.
You left me standing in the sun,
with just a blasÃ© sigh.

Chorus:
So turn your face from mine,
your eyes to fair skies blue.
In my heart these words were formed:
goodbye, because I love you.
Your welfare was my one concern,
and your heart my desire.
But if I said I was best for you,
my dear, I'd be a liar.

Cause ended you our sweet romance
As summer came to close
You left me standing in the rain, with nowhere left to go

Chorus:
So turn your face from mine,
your eyes to fair skies blue.
In my heart these words were formed:
goodbye, because I love you.
