you've been around and watched me hurt these other guys you've seen the pain in their eyes when i didn't want them around you've heard the stories and you've heard the jokes laughing in between their smokes saying that i'll never settle down and i know you think that i don't mean it but baby i'm nineteen and i feel like i'm running out of time so if this is what it takes i'll do it i've gotta prove it if i'm gonna make you mine i'll write you a song every single day just something to make you stop and say she's thinking of me i don't have time to be shy i don't have time to get tongue tied i just need you to see how good it could be
