I'm stronger than I used to be (just like the old me)
But I won't go down alone (again)
It took too long for me to see
The weakness that enveloped me
And broke by heart so easily

Everything you say
Pushes me away form you
(break the walls between)
Keep your hands away
And I'll fight another day with you
(break the walls between you and me)

Shouldn't have to be so hard to love
(just like the old me)
But you won't go down alone (again)
It took too long for me to see
The way that this should never be
You break my heart so easily

Everything you say
Pushes me away form you
(break the walls between)
Keep your hands away
And I'll fight another day with you
(break the walls between you and me)
Everything you say
Keeps my love away
Keeps my love away
from you

Yeah, in all reality really we run the risk of,
and I'm sorry there were a couple of things we failed to discuss
And it's probably bad timing the fact that I'm bringing it up
Honestly Honesty forthcoming being so blunt
It's a trait that I posses and the secret of my success
So I suggest you take the stress and start salvaging what is left
Would be my educated guess, don't settle for nothing less

We've invested all this love and this time so don't regress, it's like

Everything you say
Pushes me away from you
(break the walls between)
Keep your hands away
And I'll fight another day with you
(break the walls between you and me)
