If all the luck in this life has all run
If all my faith is undone, I had none To track them down and take them back where they belong Could that explain why I'm here, Is that the reason why I came
And why I feel this way, I feel, I feel, I feel, I came apart here

Stole a look away from you eyes Stole a look and finally paid your price
Tethered fresh, trampled thoughts, look for me
Look at this face, everywhere there's new mistakes
And underneath it all, takes it's toll, grudgingly
But with you in here, everything seems ok

If every moment could have you in it, I know where all my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away, I know I'll always have this one

my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away, I know I'll always
have this one
This one, this one, this one

Of any moment, ever stolen, don't take this one
As my heart runs empty now I realize What I want would never surface otherwise I hope your heart runs empty and you realize Hold on to this hope, hold on to this hope Hold on to all my hope, and my faith
Cause I don't wanna leave, I don't leave from your life Because I wanna see, that nothing is faded, that nothing could change it,
That nothing is faded, that nothing could change it
Of any moment
