Should have said I'm sorry
And at least have thought
Should have kept all those who were precious by my side
Should have said it's okay
And kept my mouth shut
Why do I always have to defend for my pride?

Why has the sun to lose at every single fight?
Why can't the world just stop and fall asleep tonight?
Why can't the wind just turn and make all wrongs all
right?
Why can't it just be this way?

I never thought, thought what was right, I thought about myself
Blinded by my whining I didn't see all my mistakes
Should have said I'm sorry
And at least have thought
One more time, before I talked
Guess I called it upon me

And now I want to say I'm sorry
But your deafened ears won't hear me no more

Why has the sun to lose at every single fight?
Why can't the world just stop and fall asleep tonight?
Why can't the wind just turn and make all wrongs all
right?
Why can't it just be this way?
