"Of Wolves And Men"

The source of sleepless nights is slowly sinking in I'm digging from the outside in now, facing myself
A dark cloud is looming closer up in the sky
Fate is running thin now, I can't escape the pain

Of wolves and men, they fought valiantly
Face the beast within
Of wolves and men, they show no regret
The hunter drains the land
The white spirit is held high in hand
A portrait bearing fear
Of wolves and men, they are in control
Face the beast within

The beast has risen now to spread the fear
Silent is the twilight morning, just like a tomb
Why am I the one who's chosen to make the choice?
Falling embers, ash and clay
We'll leave behind the pain

Of wolves and men, they fought valiantly
Face the beast within
Of wolves and men, they show no regret

The hunter drains the land
The white spirit is held high in hand
A portrait bearing fear
Of wolves and men, they are in control
Face the beast within

I see the light and resurrect the spirit in the twisted confines of my mind
I feel the might and energy of ancient powers more than just a fairy tale
We took the shot, and paid the price
The neverending punishment for what we've done
Another day, another war
Another chance to save all that has said farewell

Of wolves and men, they fought valiantly
Face the beast within
Of wolves and men, they show no regret

The hunter drains the land
The white spirit is held high in hand
A portrait bearing fear
Of wolves and men, they are in control
Face the beast within
