Small town girl on her way to being a star,
Spent her time dressing up and going to bars,
Lost herself in the city looking for fame,
Gave up all that she had, Jacqueline's her name

It's a long way home,
From your somber soul,
It's a long way home,
Don't you know

Jacqueline, Where do you go,
When the world leaves you spinning,
You're out on your own,
You mean so much more than you'll ever know,
Jacqueline oh where do you go

Waiting on the day to come to find an easy way out, Breaking water with a stone and watch it rain to the clouds,
Running from a world you know and never saying bye,
Setting foot across these towns, beyond county lines

Jacqueline, Where do you go,
When the world leaves you spinning,
You're out on your own,
You mean so much more than you'll ever know,
Jacqueline oh where do you go

Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline
Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline

I know you hurt,
Jacqueline don't cry,
You've got your whole life on the line,
And I know you'll find yourself

Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline

Jacqueline, Where do you go,
When the world leaves you spinning,
You're out on your own,

You mean so much more than you'll ever know,
Jacqueline oh where do you go

Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline
Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline
Jacqueline oh oh oh Jacqueline
