These walls, these streets are all that I have known.
They've aged with me for all of my life.
First lovers' love all stay in the scene.
Wouldn't they look nice, under New York Lights?
Those New York Lights.

Cause I sit and stare at all of these stars
These blinds become my iron bars
So long until I can say this all alone
I'll just keep my eyes upon those New York Lights.

We're gonna leave, won't you come with me?
We're letting go, cause I just want to know:
What the sun feels like on the other side
What the sun feels like on the other side of these New
York Lights
INSTRUMENTAL

We're gonna leave, won't you come with me?
We're letting go, cause I just want to know:
What the sun feels like on the other side
What the sun feels like on the other side of these New
York Lights

Back then, these times seemed so far away
But now I'm home and it's staying that way.
I don't feel the need to get out of this place,
Now I've lived my life, I don't need those New York
Lights
My New York Lights
My New York, My New York Lights
My New York, My New York, My New York Lights
