Did you ever want out of this, out of this life?
Did you ever think about it love from time to time?
Did you believe in everything they said, they're saying things I don't know?
How did you get so far my friend, so far from home?
Did you ever draw outside the, outside the lines?
Did you mean to make others hurt, from time to time?
Did I tell everything's been said what they're saying it's so untrue?
How could you ever let this life get the best of you?

All those memories but you're still alone
It's crying time but there's still love.
Oh and I tried so hard to get to you

I know you never meant
You never meant those things you'd done
I never meant to leave you but

It's crying time but there's still love.

Did you ever look back and wish, wish you'd have shinned?
Did you ever feel less than low or more than high?
Did I tell you I believed in everything they said, none of it true?
I could have been a better friend, a better friend to you.

All these memories but you're still alone
It's crying time but there's still love.
Oh and I tried so hard to get to you

I know you never meant those things you'd done
I never meant to leave you but
It's crying time this time for you.

Oh and these trying times so hard for you
Oh and it's crying time but there's still love
