I'll tell you a story about a man
A leader, so noble, Â'til he bought it
To how we defined him, above us all
Now he's got up so high that everyone will fall

(CHORUS 1)

Do you hear me when I feel so mislead
By what he said

Your color is fading, there's nothing left
Just pride, and indignance, and disrespect
All that you were saying was, "Yes We Can!"
But nothing you have done is giving us a chance

(CHORUS 2)

Do you hear me when I feel so mislead
Silence brings me down to the underground

Still I say that there's no way that you could make any more of this

(CHORUS 3)

Do you hear me when I feel so mislead
Silence brings me down to the underground
This all brings me down, now I'm underground
