For everything there's a reason
We don't always need to know, yeah
We fear the light of those that leave us
The ones that burn twice as bright
Or the ones we love twice as much
We miss the most, yeah

And there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, someday you will

'Coz life is short, gotta do your own thing
Seems the higher that we fly
The more the people try and bring you down, yeah
Oh, sometimes you love, sometimes you hate
Sometimes you know, sometimes you break
You fall down and make mistakes and then fear God

And there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, someday you will

Little piece of heaven, shining like the night
No matter what you do, always by your side

And there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, someday you will, someday, be there
Someday you will be there, I know, you will

There's a little piece of heaven, shining in the night
No matter what you do, it's always by your side
There's little piece of heaven, shining like the night
No matter what you do, it's always by your side

Everything, there's a reason
We don't always need to know, yeah

But there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, there's a little piece of heaven
Just waiting for you to come home
I know, someday you will

Little piece of heaven, shining like the night
No matter what you do, always by your side

Just waiting for you to come home
I know, someday you will, someday you will
