darlin' won't you come away with me and i will construct a sanctuary from your agony and i will provide a haven built of trust and integrity and i'll keep you safely there, yeah darlin' when you're tired and feeling low when the world makes you crazy there are two things that you need to know, remember them always one is that i never will let you go and the other is that i think you are amazing yeah, i think you are amazing when i am dying, you make me come alive, you start my soul uprising you recognize the real me, even when i'm in disguise you make me come alive, you make me come alive come away with me, we'll chase the moon wherever it leads us time can pass or it can stand in place we won't waste one moment worrying about it in either case

'cause i already know i'm growing old with you yeah, i'm growing old with you when i am hurting you come and ease my pain you soothe me when i'm crying you breathe your life into me, you fill me and revive me

maybe darlin' one day soon we'll find a way to finally turn the page and live our lives uncomplicated, uncomplicated nothing in this world is certain, but you have been my sanity and strength and an ally in this war i've been waging, this war i've been waging this war i've been waging darlin' won't you come away with me, our time is arriving all the pieces are in place, yet iâ'm still realizing each and every single day and in how many ways i think you are amazing,

yeah, i think you are amazing
