

Mark Adam Trimpey "Falling"

Visit "Falling" on MotoLyrics.com what do you think I did to justify this kind of mistreatment when all along IÂ've tried to show you some compassion and care i have tried more than once to open up the lines of engagement but you just say, no thatÂ's okay, iÂ'm moving on and iÂ'm moving away you act as if our life together was like years spent imprisoned like there was not a single moment free of heartache and pain, no but i just canÂ't believe youÂ'd run away to chase your ambitions

how could you leave me hanging here amid the sad reminders of the life we made you want to talk about my obligations and yet you wonÂ't discuss our situation when the walls are falling down, when the walls are falling

so go, pack up your things, take off your rings and go thereÂ's no sense in waiting i am not going to be the one to stand in your way if you think thereÂ's nothing here worth redeeming package up our memories, make sure youÂ've taken everything you know that is precious to me go, if you are capable, capable of any think of sympathy

i know you want to leave the past behind you you donÂ't want anybody to remind you when the walls are falling down, when the walls are
falling

Visit Mark Adam Trimpey page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

