Maybe I'm a fool for believing you
Never be the proof but then it all came true
Wrote it in a letter that I sent to you

Suns coming up, finally waking up
Everyone says this is it
This isn't it

Maybe I'm a fool
Maybe I'm a fool for believing you

Said you never knew, never had a clue
Couldn't keep a secret
I won't ask you to

It's all I got, it may not be a lot
But everything is over now
So over now

Maybe I'm a fool
Maybe I'm a fool for believing you

You're off into the blue without a word or two
Maybe this is better, once I'm over you
It's all my fault that every grain salt

Wants to hope that you're to blame
You're only half the blame
You're only half the blame

Maybe I'm a fool
