3. Exile

Far from the morning
They came with no warning
To kidnap the Prince of the planets of war.
Stripped of his kingdom by nuclear wizards
Through light years of exile he knocks at my door.

Far from the morning
He came with no warning
To claim me in exile
We wandered together

Tell you what's behind the tide
As he sang in good exile with me
Tell you what's behind the tide
Then is his promise to bring us together
He wanders the planet in exile forever

You meet in the morning
I bring you his warning

Walk into the valley
I saw it be gay.

Tell you what's behind the tide
As he sang in good exile with me
Tell you what's behind the tide

Tell you what's behind the tide
As he sang in good exile with me
Tell you what's behind the tide.
