outside authority
who makes the rules who makes the judgement and this water is thicker than this blood I say you caused God's flood and your mistakes left you abandoned on this broken path and I promise you that you'll never last

you never knew what it meant to me you never knew it meant so much to me

you brought apologies by the ton and piled them at my feet like it held an ounce of meaning not an ounce of meaning to me

not a meaning to me

how do you sleep at night drowning swimming in your remorse you're finding solid ground you stumble to your feet you can't function you're too weak

and I promise you that

you brought apologies like

you brought apologies

you never knew it meant so much to me
