Never knew we would end up here
All the days feel like they're one big dream
Can we wake up, I'm so tired
It's hard enough to remember my last name
But seeing your eyes reflect the stars tells me

We might be a long long way from home
And tonight might be the coldest night we've been through
Yeah we've been through deserts and storms
We've been through them before

Would you write me if you left here
I don't know if I'd survive alone
Yeah you've told me we can't think that Far ahead now, focus on the road
It's just seeing your eyes reflect the stars tells me

We might be a long long way from home
And tonight might be the coldest night we've been
through
Yeah we've been through deserts and storms
We've been through them before
We might have a long long way to go
But tonight might be the first time that we see hope
Yeah we'll see hope through deserts and storms
We've been through them before

We charge ahead, it's time
I've got your back and you've got mine
We charge ahead, it's time
I've got your back and you've got mine

We might be a long long way from home
And tonight might be the coldest night we've been
through
Yeah we've been through deserts and storms
We've been through them before
We might have a long long way to go
But tonight might be the first time that we see hope
Yeah we'll see hope through deserts and storms
We've been through them

We charge ahead it's time
Through deserts and storms we've been through them
Deserts and storms we've been through them
Deserts and storms we've been through them before
