I cannot forget those days
Heavy like my feet were stuck in concrete
Locked into a life-delay
Where everything I'd see was blind ambition

Just when this story seems to end
Our world expands and then extends
Even if my words are faint
You will always hear me say

Tell me more, tell me more
Why keep moving ahead?
When we both know it's no way to go
Tell me, have we become
The leaders of the misled in the end?

Let's hold on and take a breath
Take a step away and break transmission
We've walked into another mess
'Cause I can never turn down propositions

Just when our story seems to end
You've gone and done it all again
And even if my words are faint
You will always hear me say
Is this a chain reaction? Let's not fight it

Tell me more, tell me more
Why keep moving ahead
When we both know, it's no way to go
Tell me, have we become
The leaders of the misled in the end?

Is this a chain reaction? Let's not fight it
This game is taking over, can't control it
Let it go, we both know
Intentions are never quite what they seem
What can we lose? What can we gain?

Lying to ourselves makes it easy to explain
What's there to prove? It's all the same
Living in a past that you know will never last

You will always hear me say

Tell me more, tell me more

Why keep moving ahead?

When we both know, it's no way to go

Tell me, have we become

The leaders of the misled in the end?
