Feast on the flesh of the desolate one, lain naked in the ground. The crow has come as a sign of the evil that is to be. Release the hounds. Bow down before the abomination of Babylon, drunk with the blood of saints. Stare into my eyes. Fall victim to eternity. Inquiry opens yet another to interpret prophetic warnings. Implied visions of the end. The downfall of man. Blind by false realities of human existence. Hear the screams of those about to depart, pluck out the eyes of our enemies. Burn the corpses. Fill the streets. Bring on the plague. Suspicions of destiny. Bring on the plague. Cleanse the earth. Push our enemies on the ice. Drown them below. Let the current sweep them away. Drown them below. Lost beneath the ice. Suffocating beneath the waters of change. Lost beneath the ice. Suffocating beneath the waters of change. All shall be revealed soon enough. Those that worship the dragon of fire, shall drown in ice. Unaware of their doom. All shall be revealed soon enough. Those that worship the dragon of fire, shall drown in ice. Unaware of their doom.
