Another year you're older
Another sleepless night tonight
Another weight to shoulder
All the pain that's locked inside

Another night of dreams
Even though they end up badly
It doesn't change, you're fast asleep
Your fast asleep

You thought they all forgot you
Thought they might throw you away
Is there any virtue
In the words they try to say

It's not your fault, these dreams
They all end up badly
But you're fast asleep
You're fast asleep

Hope is never far away
It's way to soon to run

Let your burdens fall away
Let love lift you up

Another year you're older
Another sleepless night tonight
With every breath it's colder
You can't keep the pain inside

You put your faith in things
That are always empty
They're pulling all your strings
But you're fast asleep

Hope is never far away
It's way to soon to run
Let your burdens fall away
Let love lift you

Hope is never far away

When you're looking up
He'll cast your burdens far away
His love will lift you up
