And when you talked to me,
We talked about real things
I listened patiently
When you cried on the phone to me
It ended very soon,
You didn't leave much room
You couldn't let go of me
When I told you I was leaving.

You called me up, called me up,

You said, "I have to say

You make me self-conscious in every way
Because you are beautiful
And I am inferior
I know I'm not good enough,
But I need to be told I am!"

He needs to be told.

You left me speechless,
But you were honest.
And I was embarrassed,
But you were honest.
