Once upon a time,
I could see it clear
But I learned real quick
Now it's called instinct
It's a long, long dirty road
And it ain't always paved with gold.

And the hour is late,
And I'm here alone.
I can hear that rain,
And it fills a void.
It's a long, long dirty road
And I'm trying not to get cold.
And I'm Never Too Young
And I'm Never Too Old
It's Just Those Feelings',
I Have Learned to Hide

I Have Been Coming Down
And You Know, It's Up and Down
I've Turned A Shade of Blue
But I Still Feel Beautiful

Even though I'm weak
I have found some strength
I have found some warmth
In amongst the chill.
And I hope to see You down the road,
Cause your worth was more than gold.

I Am A Shade of Blue
