Postcards

Lyrics by: Nick Santone

I heard you left for the north side, at least that's what they tell me.
You've got a swagger in your stride. To help your feet from falling.
And me, I'm still in the same place. I'm still walking the same way.
At a time when it all fades, at a likeness strayed.

Keep that candle burning so I know where to find you.
And these stars they shine bright, it's not easy hide
you.
Where I'm going I don't know but only if you showed me.
We're gonna lie to no one and keep that dark for something.

Seems you got it all right, seems you got it all in check.
Me, I'm two steps behind on this road you left here.

Seems you're not where you should be, and it seems I know where I'm standing.
Seems you're on the ledge again with that desperate man.
Life is the game we all play. Life is the game we're all losing.

You should walk the other way my friend, this roof is crumbling.

Seems you got it all right, seems you got it all in
check.
Me, I'm two steps behind on this road you left me.
Could you hold this wall too, could you tell me I'm all.
Cause I'm at my wits' end with no choices to go on.

You wait on and never see How they got you falling like a feather, like a stone that has no place to be But down you go like all the "Fare The Well's"...

Seems you got it all right, seems you got it all in
check.
Me, I'm two steps behind of this road you left me.

Seems you got it all right, seems you got it all in
check.
Me, I'm two steps behind on this road you left here.
Heard you left for the north side and that's where you'll stay.
Leaving us for the no souls, and I'll keep all you left here..
