Gazing at the rain fall through my dusty windows,
drops slowly running down the mirror...
Staring at the clouds above and the peeps outside get soaked.
And I draw some crappy things on the steam on my window.

Been staring off for a while now thinking back to the good times we had...

Every single pic inside my head reminds me
How stupid I can be

Cause now I find myself alone
feeling like a complete asshole
with my pics of you pinned all over the wall and all the little thingies I been keeping in a box...
