These waters have frozen
Can't break the ice no more
It's raining so hard now
Can't seem to find a shore
World of water
Where you swim for the other side
World of water
But you're swimming against the tide
This all goes so much deeper
Than some would like to say
Soaked in this world of water
Until it's washed away
World of water
Where you swim for the other side
World of water
But you're swimming against the tide
World of water
You can drown but you still survive
No colour no feeling
No time to sit around
No living no dying
No one here to be found
No entry no exit
I like to be beside the sea
The tide comes in once more but
I'm safe on higher ground
The water here still rising
It's come to drag me down
World of water
Where you swim for the other side
World of water
But you're swimming against the tide
World of water
You can drown but you still survive
World of water
Where you swim for the other side
World of water
But you're swimming against the tide
World of water
You can drown but you still survive
