Is life only getting harder for me?
I'm not running away, but it seems to be the same things over and over My life is great. better than ever before but still feel the strain i don't feel pain of suffering but still my lungs are freezing

Lately i cant find the time to breath maybe its just me
but the air seems out of reach and im suffocating I've been looking for a chance to make it trembling because I'm scared of changing and lately i cant find the time to breath

I've been doing everything i can ive been running on empty with broken legs it gets hard to stand im learning lessons and ive become much better off than i ever though i could be

but still my lungs are freezing

but the air seems out of reach and im suffocating

we crawl
we walk
we fall we pick ourselves up and we do it all over
