You will not find what it is you're looking for You're searching in the wrong place you must look inside yourself to find this place

(something hidden inside you)

What will you do when you find it
Will you rest for the rest of your life
You should use it, your potential for success and no strife

(something hidden inside you)

We need a world that pays attention
We need a world that can handle the tension
We need a world that wont suffer in silence
We need a world, we need a world

(something hidden inside you)

We need a world that pays attention
We need a world that can handle the tension
We need a world that wont suffer in silence
We need a world, we need a world

We need a world that pays attention
We need a world that can handle the tension
We need a world that wont suffer in silence
We need a world, we need a world
