You have a presidential staff of hypocrites
Got a government that tells you what to do
While your teachers invest in you
With their disregard for hopes and dreams
And there's no way out or so it seems
But your constant nerve can bring them to their knees

We are immortal
With every breath we take

You see your people turn to anarchy
Corruption spins the wheels of industry
And you find out that there is no us
For there always was
A disregard for hopes and dreams
Or so it seems
But your constant nerve
Can bring them to their knees

We are immortal
With every breath we take 2x
To shine down

You are a patron now to complacency
Lacking confidence to rearrange
The very essence of society
So stick your neck out and make a change
Don't come to me till a new day
Cause your faith could make it so

We are immortal
With every breath we take
To shine down
