It's gonna take a long..long time
To get back home
It's cold outside and the kettle's on hot
To keep you safe and warm

It's gonna take a couple winter months
For things to turn out okay
But don't worry child time will past
And things will always change

But some things will remain

Demons rant then turn their face
Shadows dance and fade away
But each day to pass we will make it out all right
Lovers love then feel the pain
Haters cast their evil shame
But each day that flies we will make it out all right

Till nature takes its toll

Till the waters run no more
It remains the same

No matter how long you take it
No matter which way you break it
No matter how long it takes
It always, it always remains
That's just the way

Beggars sleep and dream of gold
While princes wish for different worlds
But each day to pass we will make it out all right
Comets miss their only chance
Stars will die just for a glance
But each day that flies we will make it out all right

Each day to pass we will make it alright
