I shudder to think of you
In a world without me by your side
But we haven't changed at all
Just the things we need in our lives
Some will be left behind
My only hope is not tonight

Light dances with the wind
Children race to the ocean side
So still the sound seems now
Exist if only for the flight
You stand as lovely as you are
I'm left to marvel in the night

And so we are
Left with the dead end friends
And so we are
To face open problems
If not for you
There could not be the same me
A sail is longer than one day

I shudder to think of you
In a world without us feeling time
Worried troubles of the day
Must at some point be set free
If only for one night

Let's leave it all behind

and so we are left with the burning sun
and so we are to face extremities
I see it now
There would not be the same me
If not for you
Would there be the same me
The sail is longer than one day

I'm on my way now
Till the sun comes around

Just to be with you tonight
On my way now
Till the sun comes around
Just to moan out from the soul
To crack that whip then say goodbye
Sweat it out, leave you be
To crack that whip and say goodnight
Till the morning light shines on me

To crack that whip and shake it out Sweat on me, leave it be
To crack that whip and shape it out
Till the morning light takes me
