Old friend, what you doin' out there?

Come inside, sit yourself on that chair

It's been a long time, since the last time of many burdons have passed through our hands

Not end today and day in to tonight

do you know what i mean? i'm trying to say im sorry you're the star in the sea, your not just anybody

there's a light in your eye that i can't seem to reach over head, in the sky, is it shining on me? is it shining on me?

I've always knew, that you would not hang around

You and me were like the thieves of the town too many girlfriends, but not enough love too many late nights, and not enough sleep strung out and wasted, no good in shape for the life we tasted, there on the table

over head, in the sky, is it shining on me? is it shining on me?

open our heart, and deeds in our head, but most of the time, we stay in a place if you go out there, your just up north, it's a calm cool world, i slapped that door.
