I realized that there isn't much I can do let alone anything that i care to do. maybe someday you'll come around hopefully when you're back in town you tried your best i understand all i want is a strong man to be anything but afraid anything but hesitant anything but you, no that cant be true you were everything i ever wanted this is all just too bad

i'm giving up trying, but i'm giving in to lying.
i said i'd get over you but that's something i just can't do being with other guys only makes me miss you i'm just confusing myself when i say there's no more you run back into my arms act as if you never left call me your baby and tell me how much you like me look into my eyes and maybe call me sometime just tell me everything will go back to the way it was

let alone my wanting to be with you
