Hey are you really gonna take off
Are you really gonna fly sitting in the pilot seat

Hey are you really gonna fight fires
Are you really gonna drive your engine in the morning

Once in a while you think of all the dreams you filed
away

One life there's no time like the present here and now
One love there's no time like the present time

Hey are you gonna be a soldier
Are you gonna fight a war and save all the good souls

Hey are you gonna start a revolution
Are you gonna spread the word are you gonna change the world

Once in a while you think of all the dreams you filed

One life there's no time like the present here and now
One love there's no time like the present time

All the nights we've shared familiar faces there It's amazing what you get when you give

One life there's no time like the present here and now
One love there's no time like the present time

Once in a while you think of all the dreams you filed
