He sees you down by the water line knows what you thinking all the time He sees the rising of the waves when the tide starts rolling in he lets you know its gonna be okay

He sees you dancing in the moonlight His arms around you hold you tight and if those clouds should start to break He'll be standing out in the rain with you and though its hard to believe he believes in you

(Chorus)

God is watching over you as always you are loved whatever you go through he's right beside you
god is watching over you as always
and if you think he'll ever leave you you'd better think again

Painted in the sky a rainbow to remind you nothing that is broken cannot be made new and when you feel so far away he's gonna keep the nightlight on he's waiting there there to recieve you

God is watching over you as always
You are loved whenever you go ...

Through fire through wind and through rain yesterday today and tomorrow the same nothing there can take this love nothing you can do can change this love climb a tree gonna reach so high Swing low sweet chariot It's time to fly ... ooh oh
and if you think he'll ever leave you

God is watching over you as always
god is watching over you as always
and if you think he'll ever leave you you'd better think again (X2)
